

Take Action

To schedule a speaker, contact the Center for Public Justice by phone toll-free at 1-866-CPJUSTICE (1-866-275-8784) or at 410-571-6300.

You may also e-mail your request to speakersbureau@cpjustice.org. Please include a description of the type of presentation you seek, including a general topic or theme, a proposed format (lecture, panel presentation, workshop, etc.) and the planned date of the event.

Fees and honoraria vary according to speaker and type of speaking engagement. It is generally the responsibility of the host organization to provide transportation, lodging, and meals for speakers. Please contact the Center for more information or visit our web site at www.cpjustice.org.

P. O. Box 48368
Washington, D.C 20002-0368

AN UNCOMMON PERSPECTIVE

Health Care...

Foreign Policy...

Education...

Church
& State...

2003-2004
SPEAKERS BUREAU

An Uncommon Perspective...

...On The Common Good

Government is serious business. Justice is at stake. At the Center for Public Justice we believe officeholders and citizens should take their civic and political responsibilities seriously. The Center exists to help equip citizens and leaders in government with insight and a unique perspective to pursue justice for all in the public square.

The Center's Speakers Bureau brings together a gifted network of leaders and experts from across the country. They address a wide variety of domestic and international issues including:

- ❖ Health Care: Whose Responsibility Is It?
- ❖ The Faith-Based Initiative
- ❖ International Justice and American Power
- ❖ Genetics and Politics
- ❖ Youth and Families at Risk
- ❖ The Abortion Impasse
- ❖ A New Vision for American Schooling
- ❖ Social Security and Care for the Elderly
- ❖ Healing the Divide: Racial Reconciliation & Politics
- ❖ Why Voting Doesn't Seem to Matter (And Why It Should).

Contact the Center to obtain a speaker for your next event. The Center's speakers are regularly invited to address different types of events and audiences, including public lectures, college and university classes, government hearings, community events, church education classes, academic conferences, and TV and radio interviews.

Speakers think outside the familiar boxes of right and left, liberal and conservative. They share a firm commitment to public service and public policies that advance justice for people of all faiths in local, national, and international affairs.

Participants in the Speakers Bureau include public officials, professors, and policy experts on health care, education and welfare reform, family law, and community development.

Members of the Speakers Bureau include:

Mary Beth Albright, bio-ethicist; research fellow, Center for Public Justice (Washington, D.C.)

Stanley Carlson-Thies, former Assistant Director, White House Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives (Annapolis, Maryland)

Roy Clouser, author, The Myth of Religious Neutrality (Haddonfield, New Jersey)

Clarke Cochran, health care and religion expert (Lubbock, Texas)

Charles Glenn, international authority on parental choice in schooling; public education administrator (Boston, Massachusetts)

Gail Jansen, attorney, family law (Tucson, Arizona)

Tracy Kuperus, African politics specialist; author, State, Civil Society and Apartheid in South Africa (Grand Rapids, Michigan)

Stephen Lazarus, policy expert, faith-based initiatives; senior policy associate, Center for Public Justice (Annapolis, Maryland)

Stephen Monsma, former Michigan state legislator; fellow, Center for Research on Religion and Urban Civil Society (Los Angeles, California)

Nancy Pearcey, co-author with Charles Colson, How Now Shall We Live; fellow, Discovery Institute (Washington, D.C.)

Carol Veldman Rudie, political activist, FairVote Minnesota. (Minneapolis, Minnesota)

Tim Sherratt, co-author, Saints as Citizens: A Guide to Christian Responsibilities in Politics (Wenham, Massachusetts)

James Skillen, president, Center for Public Justice; author, Recharging the American Experiment (Annapolis, Maryland)

Gideon Strauss, director, research and education, Christian Labour Association of Canada (Toronto, Ontario, Canada)

Harold Dean Trulear, pastor and community development expert (Yeadon, Pennsylvania) author, The African American Church and Welfare Reform.